

Wild Animals and Residential Wildlife Control

There are many species of wild animals in our community. Wild animals are generally well accepted and a large part of what makes the community attractive and desirable. The Borough does not provide services to remove healthy residential wildlife. As a precaution, never leave food outside your house. Otherwise, it will attract various wildlife to your doorstep. If interested or if you feel it is necessary to remove nuisance wildlife, please contact a residential wildlife control company to assist you with problems. There are many private contractors that provide these services. Names of contractors are available by searching the internet for Wildlife Control in Monmouth County, New Jersey. However, if the wild animal is acting unusual, injured, or sick, please contact Animal Control.
