

Life in Roosevelt: A Tapestry of the Jewish-American Dream

An oral history project of the Jewish Heritage Museum of Monmouth County

DOCUMENTARY SHOWING

Sunday, December 1, at 2pm
Roosevelt Public School

The town of Roosevelt, NJ, was initially established as a farming cooperative for urban Jews, but it has since transformed into an artist haven with a deep and fascinating history. You can witness in this documentary never-before-released footage of Albert Einstein and Eleanor Roosevelt paying respects to the town.

Join us to watch this 30 minute documentary featuring past and present Jewish residents of Roosevelt, NJ, as they share their life experiences in this unique community.
